

ERIS seeks to be a journal to which those who wish to know what is happening in 'European' International Relations can turn. It aims to achieve this goal by an extensive review section of monographs published in European languages and review articles of the literature on substantive themes or significant developments in different European academic communities. Its other principal goal is to publish original articles and from time to time translations of existing major articles not readily available in English.

ERIS aims: (1) to reflect the European specificities and approaches, (2) to be an outlet in English in particular for non-English language authors but including English language authors, (3) to make the Anglophone world aware of research in other languages, (4) to make non-English language authors aware of research in other non-English academic cultures and languages, (5) to encourage transdisciplinarity across the social sciences and humanities

ISSN: 2196-6923 | ISSN Online: 2196-7415

Volume 4, 2017

Published three times a Year (incl. one Special Issue)

Approx. 200 Pages | Language: English

Website:

<http://eris.budrich-journals.com>

among those concerned with international studies broadly defined, (6) to be eclectic in terms of concept, method and approach with rigorous international academic standards.

Founder and President of Honor of ERIS Board:

John Groom (Emeritus Professor of International Relations, University of Kent, UK)

Editors:

Christopher Hill (SAIS Europe Bologna, Italy, and University of Cambridge, UK), Christian Lequesne (Centre de Recherches Internationales (CERI), Paris/France)

Steering Committee:

Mathias Albert, Bertrand Badie, David Bates, Frédéric Charillon, Aurélien Colson, Wolf-Dieter Eberwein, Elise Féron, Keith Krause, Sarah Lieberman, Frédéric Ramel, Ben Rosamond, Valérie Rosoux, Elzbieta Stadtmuller

Managing Editor:

Antoinette Groom

supported by the Canterbury Christ Church University (CCCU)

E-Mail: eris@canterbury.ac.uk